

Staff Augmentation – Case Study

Client: UK based global loyalty specialist

Synopsis

Impulsive Requirement of Experts

The client has developed the loyalty product to their customers. They were in need to scale up their development team within short period of time due to business requirement.

How was it done

Client involved regular recruitment process to increase their development team size. As it was time consuming, it affected the production resulting in extended delivery time.

Challenges involved

The time-consuming process involved in talent hunt

Finding exact skill set match

Extended timeline for talent hunt

Longer time for resource on boarding

Resource relocation

Solution

Easy access to in-house and extended resource pool

KGI SL's vast experience in setting up ODC and development centres for various multinational companies with proven methodologies and track record provided the solution to the client. Deployed internal employees and hired engineers from the market to match the client's job requirement within a short period with competitive rate card.

Provided highly skilled candidates on time to meet the client's business demand over time and maintained appropriate bench strength.

Number of Engineers - 28

Technology Stack

Java, NodeJS, Maven, Apache kafka, Redis, Nginx, Oracle, Mysql, Strucrs, Spring Boots, Angular 8, Android

Benefits

Easy ramp-up and ramp-down of resources

Quality and experienced professionals

Reduced time for on-boarding resources

Highly reliable ODC infrastructure

Back up resource pool

70% Reduction in cost